Continuation of 2. NOTE: The features of the invention added to independent claims 1, 7, 21, 23-25 by amendment are not taught by the art used to previously reject these independent claims, therefore further search is needed. By amendment claim 1now states the scan order includes a network address, and the scanner node is coupled to the order entry server and the computer terminal. By amendment claims 7,21,23-25 now state the recipients of notification of completion of the scan order may comprise individuals other than a requestor that initiates the scan order. Neither Lo et al. or Maeda disclose these features of the invention.
